"At Toast Interactive, we pride ourselves on being a no guns, no crunch, studio. Max Mustard has been born from strong values and is a family-friendly VR experience the whole family can enjoy" stated CEO, Kylee Kay.

Kylee, Richard and his wife and co-founder, Toni Eastes are currently at Gamescom in the business hall at the Australian Stand showcasing the game, along with their flagship title "Richie's Plank Experience".

"As CEO of Toast Interactive, this is a pivotal moment for our family owned and operated Gold Coast based studio" stated Kay.

“After the success of Richie’s Plank Experience, Richard and Toni really wanted to create a platforming game that sets a new high quality bar for visuals, gameplay and excitement on all VR headsets.

“We believe VR presents a small window of opportunity for a new platforming IP to stand the test of time like other classic platformers released on native platforms such as Super Mario for Nintendo, Sonic the Hedgehog for Sega Mega Drive, or even Alex Kidd that came as an in-built game for Sega Master System if you can remember that far back. This is why we have committed so heavily to Max Mustard” Notes Kay.

“Max Mustard is not yet available for purchase. It’s deep in the production phase and is due for release early next year. We will keep the VR community updated of any big announcements” concludes Kay.
